4. ACTION

4.1 Officer Discretion and Alternatives to Physical Arrest (CALEA 5th ed. standards 1.2.6 & 1.2.7)

An officer's discretion is an essential function of effective law enforcement. Discretion shall be used in accordance with departmental policy. What is reasonable in terms of appropriate enforcement action or constitutes probable cause varies with each situation. Different facts may justify an investigation, a detention, a search, an arrest or no action at all. Some situations result in a report being written, or in cases of minor offenses or where no violations have been committed a verbal warning or other referral can be made. In each case, an officer must act reasonably within the limits of his or her authority, as defined by statute and judicial interpretation. Whether an officer makes a physical arrest or releases someone on a copy of charges, the officer shall not inhibit the individual's right of access to the courts, which is accomplished by assigning or obtaining a court date.

4.2 Community Policing

4.2.1 The Community Policing strategy recognizes the importance of police commitment to dealing with the underlying conditions that cause crime, in order to reduce or impact crime in neighborhoods.

4.2.2 Officers should solicit active community involvement in defining local problems, and the setting of police priorities in responding to such problems. There must be a working partnership between the police and the community based upon mutual trust and respect.

4.2.3 The creation of neighborhood-based working coalitions that comprehensively attack crime and other problems offer a real opportunity for success. Responses to the crime problem must involve collaborative efforts between the police, other service providers and the community.

4.2.4 Police officers who provide services on the street are one of the most valuable resources of any police department. Community Policing stresses the critical need to facilitate ways for officers to apply creative and effective ways to impact neighborhood problems.

4.2.5 Shifting Resources Closer to the Neighborhoods. If police officers in the future are to have success in dealing with the problems in their neighborhoods, they must have access to police and other resources available to them. Decentralizing resources shall contribute to a more efficient utilization of personnel, increased citizen satisfaction.

4.2.6 Fixed Internal Responsibility and Accountability. The Community Policing strategy needs to be based on the operational foundation of allowing commanders, supervisors, and police officers to be creative in seeking solutions to neighborhood problems. Success in this process is based on police personnel accepting a sense of ownership for these problems and doing everything possible to help solve them.

4.2.7 Benefits of Community Policing

1. Community Policing adds a proactive element to the reactive role of policing. Officers should be an influence to the young people of the community and help them develop into responsible, law-abiding citizens.

Atlanta Police Department Policy Manual

APD.SOP.3080 General Procedures

2. Community Policing augments the traditional police approach and provides the community a full spectrum of police services from the quick response only a motor patrol can provide, to the personal touch that only human interaction can provide.
3. Community Policing provides community members with the means to help themselves as well as to assist the police officer in providing services.

4.2.8 Beat Officer's Role

1. Community Policing begins with the beat officer. Beat officers should get to know the residents and business owners on their beats by becoming a part of the community.
2. Officers should be active when not on call and conduct visits to the residents and businesses in the community.
3. Officers should be aware of and have ready access to the social service agencies available to provide assistance for residents in the community.
4. Officers are encouraged to identify all community leaders and to attend community meetings to include Neighborhood Watch meetings.
5. Officers should be familiar with their neighborhoods so as to spot when things are out of the ordinary, such as unfamiliar vehicles or individuals in the area.
6. Officers should initiate action to identify, analyze, and develop solutions for the causes of the problems in their assigned community.
7. Officers should solicit information and ideas from community members and provide telephone numbers for supplying this information.
8. Officers must take action to prevent crime.
9. Officers must be accountable for their actions.
10. Officers must engage in teamwork, initially and in structured problem solving to meet the Department's mission of a safer Atlanta.

4.3 Preliminary Investigation (CALEA 5th ed. standard 42.2.1)

- 4.3.1 During the preliminary investigation, the first responding officer may refer to the Preliminary Investigation Checklist (figure 1) for guidance. Atlanta Police Department Policy Manual

APD.SOP.3080 General Procedures

- a. Employees shall thoroughly wash hands after each contact with body substances. The use of Instant Hand Sanitizer, while helpful shall not take the place of a thorough washing of the hands with warm soapy water.
 - b. Contaminated clothing should be separated from non-contaminated clothing, but treated the same as normal washing. If contaminated clothing is sent to commercial cleaners, it should be placed in an impervious laundry bag first.
 - c. On equipment, cars, etc., employees should ensure that the prompt clean up of body substances is accomplished with a 9 to 1 mixture of water to household bleach.
4. Employees who are bitten by a person should:
- a. Allow the wound to bleed, but do not massage wound;
 - b. Wash the area thoroughly with soap and water; and

However, employees shall utilize the protective masks with the one way valve whenever possible. Protective masks shall be cleaned after being used with a 9 to 1 mixture of water to household bleach. Protective masks may be replaced in the Property Control Unit.
6. The risk of contagious disease infection from being cut or punctured by contaminated needles and other sharp instruments appears to be very low. However, many employees are concerned about such incidents and the following procedures are to be utilized to protect employees when conducting searches and handling evidence suspected of contamination:
- a. Whenever possible and safe to do so, ask suspects to empty their own pockets;
 - b. If searching a purse, carefully empty contents directly from purse, by turning it upside down over a table;
 - c. Whenever possible, use long-handled mirrors and flashlight to search hidden areas;
 - d. If it is necessary to search manually, always wear protective gloves and feel very slowly and carefully;
 - e. Use puncture-proof containers to store sharp instruments and clearly marked plastic bags to store other possible contaminated items; and
 - f. Use tape - never metal staples - when packaging evidence.
7. The primary precaution for employees not required to handle evidence at a crime or accident scene is to follow procedures and not touch anything. For detectives, crime scene technicians, and others who may have to touch or remove a body, wear gloves, cover all cuts and abrasions to create a barrier against infections, and carefully wash all exposed

4.6.6 Testing

1. Where exposure, or presumed exposure, of employees or persons occurs as a direct result of Department action, notification shall be given immediately, or as soon as practical, to the employee's immediate supervisor or higher authority along the employee's chain of command. The Department shall offer and encourage voluntary testing, at City expense, of both the exposed person and the presumed carrier. The same testing is offered and encouraged if in any manner exposure, or presumed exposure, occurs to a person in the custody of an employee. If testing is declined, in the eyes of the Department succeeding development of symptoms may not be attributable to the specific incident in question at the time of refusal.
2. Employees or other persons shall not be physically forced to submit to testing for any communicable disease, except as allowed by law or court order.
3. Employees who decline voluntary testing may be mandated in writing to submit to testing by the Chief or his designee. Refusal to be tested after such an order may subject the employee to disciplinary action.
4. Applicants are required to undergo testing for the presence of communicable diseases as a prerequisite to employment.

2. Employees or persons in custody who are found to be a contagious carrier of a specific airborne disease such as tuberculosis that presents a serious health risk to others shall be segregated from those not infected.
3. A disease transmitted through physical contact with the body substances of an infected carrier shall not require segregation of infected persons from those not infected, unless failure to do so would jeopardize the successful operation of a Department -approved activity, or unless it is evident that the nature of contact required for transmission is likely to occur.
4. Where any person is, or is presumed to be, a contagious carrier of a disease not spread by casual contact, the mere presence, or presumed presence, of the disease shall not be justification for restricting the activities of that person, unless failure to do so would jeopardize the successful operation of a Department -approved activity, or unless it is evident that the nature of contact necessary for transmission is likely to occur.

4.6.9 Line of Duty Exposure to Contagious Diseases.

1. Employees shall document actual or suspected exposure to contagious diseases or contaminated materials by completing a standard Department incident report.
2. Employees shall write "Exposure to Contagious Disease" in the "Primary Offense Information/Offense and Description" Section of the ICIS incident reporting system. When applicable, and appropriate, Employees shall write "Exposure to Contagious Disease" in the "Describe How the Incident Occurred" Section of Form APD 001 (Incident Report).

- 4.12 Search Incident to a Lawful Arrest
- 4.12.1 The type of search conducted (e.g., frisk, field search or strip search, etc.) is dependent upon the situation surrounding the detention or arrest. A recognized exception to the search warrant requirement is a search incident to a lawful arrest. This exception permits an officer to perform a warrantless search during or immediately after a lawful arrest. The reason for the search is to remove any weapons the arrestee may use to resist arrest or effect an escape or to search and seize any evidence in order to prevent concealment or destruction. The Atlanta Police Department recognizes three (3) types of searches incident to a lawful arrest.

Atlanta Police Department Policy Manual

4.12.2 Strip/Body Cavity Searches (CALEA 5th ed. standard 1.2.8)

1. A strip search or a body cavity search incident to a lawful arrest shall only be conducted where reasonable articulable suspicion exists that the suspect is concealing a weapon, explosive device, or contraband, and may be conducted only at a jail, correctional, or detention facility after transport. After an initial search incident to an arrest, the officer shall:
 - a. Notify his or her supervisor that the subject in the officer's custody may be concealing an unknown item and request permission to have a strip search or body cavity search conducted.
 - b. Request that a strip search or body cavity search be conducted by the Department of Corrections at the jail after transport. Searches must be conducted out of public view and by a person of the same gender. Body cavity searches must be conducted by qualified medical personnel.
 - c. Ensure that the incident report contains detailed information about the search to include: the date, place and time of the search; the justification for the search; the name of the person conducting the search; the name of any witnesses to the search; the identity of the person being searched; and the type of contraband located and where on the body found.
2. A body cavity search that is not incident to a lawful arrest must be supported by a search warrant. If an officer has probable cause to believe that a person is concealing a weapon, explosive device, or contraband, the officer shall obtain a search warrant prior to a body cavity search.
 - a. Searches must be conducted out of public view and by a person of the same gender. Body cavity searches must be conducted by qualified medical personnel.
 - b. Ensure that the incident report contains detailed information about the search to include: the date, place and time of the search; the justification for the search; the name of the person conducting the search; the name of any witnesses to the search; the identity of the person being searched; and the type of contraband located and where on the body found.
3. A field search is the search of an arrestee at the time of arrest in order for the officer to seize any weapons or contraband. The scope of the field search shall include a frisk or pat-down of the arrestee's clothing and a search of the arrestee's pockets, socks, shoes, hair, and waistband.
 - a. If you have a reasonable articulable suspicion that the arrestee is hiding contraband or a weapon due to the type of arrest (e.g., murder, armed robbery, drug sales, etc...) or during the field search you have determined that the arrestee is concealing a weapon or other contraband, you should retrieve it immediately.

Atlanta Police Department Policy Manual

APD.SOP.3080 General Procedures

- b. A “Strip Search” is more intrusive than a “Field Search.” Officers may reasonably retrieve weapons or contraband during the “Field Search” as long as the make every effort not to expose the arrestee’s undergarments, buttocks, anus, genitals, or breasts to view.
- c. Remember, the reasonableness of such searches will be measured by the need for the search, the efforts of the officers to protect the privacy of the suspect, the intrusiveness of the search, and the location where the search was done. Without these protections, every arrest would result in a strip search. Such intrusive searches should only be done by officers of the same sex as the suspect – absent extreme and compelling circumstances.

4. Definitions

- a. Strip Search: Removal or rearrangement of clothing to permit visual inspection of a person’s 1) undergarments, 2) buttocks, 3) anus, 4) genitals, or 5) breasts. The following does not constitute a strip search: 1) removal or rearranging of clothing reasonably required to render medical treatment or assistance, or 2) removal of articles of outer clothing, such as coats, ties, belts or shoelaces.
- b. Body Cavity Search: Visual inspection or manual search of a person’s anal cavity or vaginal cavity.
- c. Field Search: A search of the arrestee at the time of arrest in order for the officer to seize any weapons or contraband. The scope of this search shall include a frisk or pat-down of the arrestee’s clothing and a search of the arrestee’s pockets, socks, shoes, hair, and waistband.

 This Section, 4.12.2, may not be deleted, revised, or amended pursuant to the March 19, 2012 Order in Walker, et al. v. Reed, et al. 1:11-CV-3334-CAP. Consult the City of Atlanta Department of Law with any questions or concerns.

4.12.3 The choice of a searching position (i.e. kneeling, prone etc.) is dependent on the context in which the search is conducted. The officer in choosing the searching position must not only consider his or her welfare but also the welfare of onlookers and the suspect.

4.13 Investigative Assistance

4.13.1 This procedure is designed to assist officers in determining which situations require assistance from the Criminal Investigations Division (CID).
